Farmingville, NY - Supervisor Ed Romaine (right) and Councilman Kevin LaValle (left) visited Pamela Lane Park in Selden which has recently undergone improvements that include irrigation, landscaping and a new wood guide rail. The improvements were funded with a Federal Community Development Block Grant, secured by the Town's Department of Housing and Human Services.

"Pamela Lane Park serves as the playground for so many families in the neighborhood," said Supervisor Romaine. "I'm happy to see the improvements have been made and I thank our Department of Housing and Human Services for helping to get the job done."

Councilman LaValle said, "Pocket parks play such an important role in the communities where they are located and I will continue to work closely with our Parks Department to determine what other ones in my district need improvements."
